OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

"DUE PROCESS OF LAW" is a well-worn expression that describes the protection guaranteed us all by the constitution.

In effect it means that no governmental agency can move in on any of us without first fulfilling all the legal requirements of such actions.

THERE ARE TIMES when one gets disgusted because the wheels of government seem to turn so ponderously. There is one delay after another before the boom is finally lowered on an offender.

On the other hand, we would all yell loudly, if there was no "due process".

As a for instance, the City Council recently passed a resolution of intent to "abate unsafe structures".

SPECIFICALLY this was just another legal step in the city's prolonged condemnation program affecting substandard and unsafe buildings.

Most owners of buildings, found substandard or unsafe, cooperate to the fullest degree with the city in either bringing their buildings "up to code" or demolishing them.

And the city in turn tries to cooperate with the property owners.

But there will be some malcontents from time to time.

The city just can't move in and tear or burn down a house, even if it is condemned without first carrying out all the provisions of "due process" which includes, of course, a court order.

The court order specifies that all the proper legal steps had been taken.

SOMETIMES, because of the long delay, it is wrongfully assumed that a party is "getting by" when actually it is just "due process" getting unravelled.

This does not mean that there can't be needless delays.

There are times, of course, when there is a slow down in action which by no manner or means can be attributed to "due process".

PROBABLY THERE ARE only a handful of people in any city who have not complained at one time or 'tother about the slowness or inefficiency (or worse) of some city department.

Many of the complaints stem from neighborhood feuds that have developed from antics of kids or pets or both. One neighbor then reports to the police and expects the cops to carry his neighbor off to jail. Just like that.

But it is not that easy, fortunately.

An illegal act has to be committed first. Then there is this "due process" bit to be considered.

City Manager reports

Preliminary city budget drops to $1.5 million

Campbell's preliminary city budget for the next fiscal year totaling $1,585,407, prepared and presented by City Manager Bob Stephens, goes under the careful scrutiny of the City Council beginning next week when special budget sessions are scheduled. The preliminary budget is $77,258 lower than last year's.

Although organizations and citizens will have an opportunity next Monday, June 13, at the council meeting to present budgetary suggestions, the council is not scheduled to delve into the weighty document in any detail at that time.

Before the final budget is adopted (probably on June 27), however, via a series of intensive budget studies, all phases of the city's fiscal structure as outlined in the city manager's preliminary draft will have been examined.

NEW FORMAT

In his budget message, Stephens explained that a new format was used in the budget presentation this year. It is submitted in three parts. But all must be interrelated and considered as a whole before the final budget is adopted before July 1.

For the first time, Stephens explains, the preliminary budget does not include capital improvements. These have been documented separately.

The revenue budget is also separated from the operating budget.

Prior to the adoption of the final document, the city manager will present the 1966-67 fiscal pay and classification plan which will be integrated into the operating budget before adoption.

The $1,585,407 preliminary budget lists operating expenditures of $1,211,326, a capital improvement program of $314,081, and the pay plan, reclassification and new employees of $60,000.

INCOME

Stephens estimates the city's income from all sources in the next fiscal year to be $1,890,634 which would provide the city with an estimated unallocated reserve in all funds on June 30, 1967 of $305,227.

The decrease of $77,258 in the total budget from last year, is due to three basic reasons, Stephens said.

THREE REASONS

The city manager is recommending (1) discontinuance of the pay-as-you-go financing for purchase of land and capital improvement projects;

(2) An increase in street projects financed by gas tax funds.

(3) A reduction in storm drain construction.

Stephens said that in drafting the budget, department heads were requested to submit requests to allow for a level of service equivalent to that of the current year, and this has been carried out in the preliminary drafts.

Stephens cautions,

Water main turns into geyser

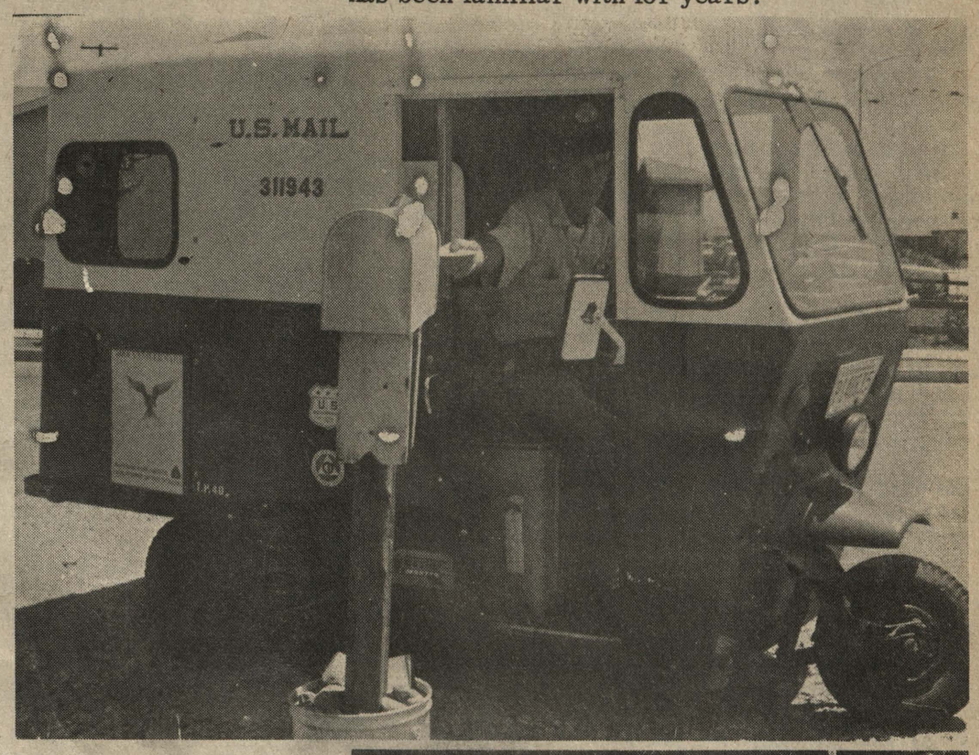
IT WENT 'POOF'--A high pressure water main on Bascom Ave. near Hamilton became a geyser on Monday about noon when the main broke and shot water as high as 80-feet into the air.

When the water was shut off about 1 p.m. by crews of San Jose Water Works, a large crater remained in the street. Water first began seeping through the pavement. When the big break came, rocks and pieces of pavement were sent sailing across the street onto the Hamilton Plaza Shopping center parking lot.

Curbside mail boxes draw fire of cities

Campbell last week joined a number of other cities in officially protesting a regulation of the U.S. Post Office Department that prevents the extension of door delivery of mail to any new subdivision.

Residents in such subdivisions would get curbside service only in boxes provided by the householder similar to the type boxes that rural America has been familiar with for years.



Rural mail boxes to come to town

A recent ruling of the U.S. Post Office Department prevents the extension of door delivery of mail in any new subdivision.

Householders in the new tracts will get their mail in curbside boxes. Postal officials claim this will result in a more economical delivery service.

Carriers will not have to leave their carts to deliver the mail as Bob McClain, a Campbell post office carrier demonstrates above.

The adjoining pictures illustrate a few of the curbside mail boxes now found in the Campbell postal district which may or may not be typical of those that will be placed in new subdivisions.

The City of Campbell, as well as many other municipalities, are vigorously objecting to the new postal edict mainly on aesthetic grounds.

Council to act on improvement district Monday

Formation of a local improvement district (No. 11) that has been in varying stages of planning for more than two years will probably get the go ahead signal at the City Council meeting Monday, June 13, provided this proper percentage of property owners involved have indicated their prior approval of the new assessments.

At the last meeting, the council deferred City Engineer Bill Wren's request to approve the engineer's estimate and set a time for a public hearing when bids would be called for the improvement.

The deferment came after former Mayor John M. Chargin, representing Baker Trailer Sales, claimed that some property owners were unaware of the new assessments. The council instructed Wren to contact all the property owners be-

Death takes Tom Perry, educator, city planning commissioner

Civic leaders and educators joined together on Tuesday at 4 p.m. to pay their last respects to a fellow worker, Dr. E. Thomas Perry, 53, of 1171 Lenor Way, who died suddenly late Saturday night.

He was stricken while attending a West Valley College dance held in Boulder Creek. Dr. Perry had just been promoted to division chairman in business education at West Valley College where he had been a member of the college faculty for the past two years.

Active in civic affairs, Dr. Perry, who received his doctorate in jurisprudence from the University of Vienna, was appointed to the Campbell Planning Commission in June of last year.

Curbside mail delivery

It is not unusual for one governmental agency to be at odds to another governmental agency, even if both are working for the "same boss".

Unfortunately such actions cause confusion. It makes it difficult for the people affected to reconcile themselves to a given situation when the agencies involved are going off in different directions at the same time.

An example of what we mean concerns the recent Post Office Department regulation which in effect would deny door mail delivery services to homes built in new subdivisions unless a rural type mailbox is provided at the curb by each home owner.

This has developed into an interesting phenomena and is very definitely a paradox.

For years there have been all-out efforts to beautify the city and countryside. City people concerned with their expanding boundaries and new subdivisions have tried to regulate developments in order to improve the looks of their particular urban areas.

For example, Campbell has followed suit of many other cities and is now requiring all utilities to be placed underground.

City people have maintained for years that rural type mailboxes destroy the aesthetic beauty which the cities have sought to develop.

So along comes a postal regulation specifying that mail boxes must be placed on the curb in the new subdivisions.

We don't blame city officials for becoming upset.

Nationwide and on the state level there has been much activity in attempts to beautify the country. The president's wife and the governor's wife head commissions whose task is to see what can be done about it, "face-lifting" areas on a major and minor scale.

Both federal and state funds are available for this commendable activity.

Counties and cities have been urged to do everything possible to improve the appearances of their respective areas.

There is no question that rural-type mail boxes stuck on the curbs of tracts will detract from the appearance of the areas. We have all seen the wobbly poles, the unattractive tin boxes and the unkempt clusters in the rural areas.

Somehow that picture does not seem to fit in modern subdivisions.

BUT, on the other hand, let's take a look at the post office viewpoint.

For years and years the Post Office Department has been the target of critics who maintain the department is inefficiently run and that proper business management would make the department self-supporting.

So the Post Office Department comes up with a regulation that would make mail delivery more efficient and economical.

There is no question in anyone's mind, even the department's most severe critic, that curbside mail delivery would be more economical for the department.

It is logical that a mail carrier can cover more territory in less time, if he could scoot along the curb without bothering to go up to the door of each house.

Aside from the aesthetic argument against the rural-type mail boxes, there is another one. Curbside boxes do present an open invitation for pilfering and tampering with the mail.

It is a sad commentary on our present life in these United States but we must face up to it.

There will be those who will take a sadistic delight in destroying the boxes for the perverted pleasure gained in destruction and not for any personal gain. Police call this malicious mischief. Others use stronger terms.

There is no sense in hiding our heads in the sand and claiming that the hoods will stay away from mail boxes because they would be tampering with government mail which carries a stiff penalty.

The hoods have to be caught first.

We all know of the many instances at Christmastime when home decorations are destroyed by individuals. Bulbs are broken not just 'snatched' in many cases. We know of cases where the damaged decorations have been dropped a few yards away from where they had been taken down.

What we are saying in effect is that we recognize the problem that the Post Office Department has faced all these years. In trying to run a service on a money-making basis, the department has failed miserably. We are convinced that the money that will be saved in forcing rural type mail boxes on cities will not be worth the chips.

We hold that it is about time that the citizens of our country and the powers-that-be must decide whether the postal department is a service or a business.

If it is strictly a service, then it must be subsidized accordingly.

If it is a business, it should be run as such all the way.

Trying to compromise the two extremes will always cause headaches of varying degrees of intensity.

MORE ABOUT

most often the basic cause of ill feeling developing in neighborhoods.

AND there is no question that one person's pets can be a neighbor's head-ache (or worse).

FOR EXAMPLE, we know of one area in town where a person keeps loads of cats that tumble noisily in and out of her house--and (without invitation) often into the neighbors' yards.

But cats, unlike dogs, seem to be only vaguely covered by city ordinances.

You have more than four dogs in one building, buddy, and you have a kennel.

The ordinance so specifies and there are stringent conditions affecting kennels.

BUT, AS FAR AS we could find out by reading the ordinance on 'animals and fowl' there is no limit on the number of cats allowed in one building.

In fact we couldn't find cats mentioned any place in the ordinance.

So no 'Kat Kennel' is necessary.

And, of course, no licenses.

Just let 'em roam.

BUT CATS ARE COVERED just the same by city ordinance, even if not as specifically as dogs.

We noted that under "keeping of poultry and animals" a number of our four-footed friends were listed such as "equine animals, bovine animals, sheep, goats, live hares, rabbits, . . . chickens, turkeys, doves, game birds", etc. Then there is the phrase:--"or other fowl or animals".

To our un-legal mind, by golly, that would include felines.

That particular clause, by the way, specifies that it is unlawful to keep any of these animals in such a manner to create unhealthful and unsanitary conditions. Such a condition would be declared a nuisance.

But to get back to the cat case we referred to some paragraphs ago.

WE LEARNED that city authorities have built up quite a file on this case.

Especially during warm weather.

Gas masks, if necessary, are available for the city crews that do inspecting.

But have you ever tried to barbecue in your patio wearing a gas mask?

A WAY OF LIFE--According to a recent U.S. Post Office Department ruling, new subdivisions will no longer have door delivery of mail. Only curbside mail delivery will be offered. In the above picture the carrier is scooting over to a curbside box in the San Tomas area.

This should become a common occurrence in the future, if the ruling is followed. Cities throughout the country are protesting the ruling, claiming that it is contrary to standards that have been set up to improve the appearances of new tracts.

however, that this minimum level of service approach cannot be continued in a growing city, if the city is to maintain a level of service which is acceptable to the Campbell citizenry.

In concluding his budget message, Stephens said:

"The proposed budget for the 1966-67 fiscal year represents a financially sound and comprehensive plan for actions which will build a better Campbell. The budget can be described as a minimum level of service budget and is necessarily so in order to accomplish one of our major objectives,--to improve our general fund unallocated reserve."

REVENUE UP

The city manager in his estimated revenue budget anticipates a total net increase in revenues over the last fiscal year of only $19,600, or 1.4%.

The city manager estimates that the assessed valuation will only increase by $1,500,000 compared to $2,498,000 in the current fiscal year. This is due to the reduced rate of construction this fiscal year.

Next year's sales tax for the city is estimated to be $370,000 and the property tax income to be $491,025.

This year the total property tax income came to $487,568 and sales tax totaled $346,500.

MORE ABOUT

Last year he also served as chairman of the March of Dimes fund drive for the Campbell area.

Born in Vienna on June 3, 1913, he had turned 53 the day before his death.

He is survived by his wife, Bess, and two sons, Steven and Michael.

Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday afternoon from the Campbell Memorial Chapel with the Rev. Clifford R. Alsen, of the Immanuel United Presbyterian Church, officiating.

At the Planning Commission meeting on Monday night, the commission adopted a resolution in the memory of Perry in which the commissioners expressed their sincere appreciation for his services and deep regrets at his untimely passing.

In addition, Chairman Hal Lee asked the audience and commissioners to pause for a moment of silence in Dr. Perry's memory before the meeting started.

The commissioners also decided to participate in a memorial scholarship that will be established at the college in Dr. Perry's name. The award will be given to an incoming freshman majoring in business.

It was hoped by both college and city leaders that the fund will have $500 to $1000 as its initial deposit.

Before going into the education field, Dr. Perry was active in the business world. He came to the United States in 1938, the year after graduating from the University of Vienna, and was associated with the Union Bank in Los Angeles for six years.

Until he took his college post, he had been administrator in the international banking department of the Bank of America since 1948. In 1964, Perry received a master's degree in business administration from the University of Santa Clara.

tween meetings.

The local improvement district is roughly bounded by Campbell Ave., Bascom Ave., Apricot Ave. and Union Ave. The improvements, as outlined in the preliminary plans, would open up property now virtually landlocked. It provides for an extension of Michael Drive.

At next Monday's meeting the council will also be asked to establish a policy as to the future width of San Tomas Road.

Recently an informal hearing on the subject was held when the engineering and planning department presented reports on the improvement of the present route or an alternate route.

The council also next Monday will hear a staff report on the request of Chez and Grattan, local developers, for a traffic light at Hamilton and Darryl Drive, location of a proposed shopping center.

Second reading of the ordinance that will allow pet clinics in C-1-S zones is also scheduled. Councilman Ed Rogers indicated at the first reading of the ordinances at the last meeting that he would oppose the ordinance.

The council at the last meeting also awarded the contract for an improvement district (No. 13) in the vicinity of the "square loop" of Hamilton and San Tomas Expressway.

Leo F. Piazza Co. got the job with a low bid of $81,846.60. There were eight bids submitted ranging to a high of $93,495. The engineer's estimate for the job was $105,332.25.

The council at the same meeting, at the request of W. L. (Bud) Morser, building official, adopted a resolution of intention to abate unsafe structures.

The resolution was necessary in order for the city to demolish certain buildings on Central and Gilman that have been condemned but the property owner has ignored the city's directives.

Volunteer aides help teachers spend more time with children

A new committee called The School Services Corps was formed last fall by the Bucknall School PTA in the Moreland School District. Eager parents with a genuine desire to be of service to the teachers and the 758 children at Bucknall, contributed their ideas, time and talent to this committee.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Bruce Nygren, it has grown to include the efforts of 60 enthusiastic parents.

Discussion with school personnel indicated that the needs of each of the 22 elementary teachers were basically the same; more classroom materials, teaching aids and help with menial clerical tasks that would enable the teachers to spend more time at the job of teaching.

As a beginning, small groups were organized to construct classroom materials which would be available for each teacher's use.

Some of these items were bean bags for primary classes, sets of hand lettered New Math flash cards, flannel boards and alphabet letters, numerals and creative shapes cut out of felt, ballot boxes for student elections, and wooden racks to hold scissors.

CLASSROOM AIDES

After the Christmas holidays the committee formalized the idea of a classroom aide for each teacher. An aide works directly with a teacher, not in classroom instruction, but takes care of some of the clerical work that is so time consuming.

At present 18 teachers have classroom aides performing such tasks as typing and running off ditto masters and stencils, writing letters, cutting letters, assembling booklets, etc.

Many persons are willing to give their time, but could not easily leave their homes during the day. The committee under the direction of Mrs. William Berg had these "at home" volunteers carry out large typing assignments and art projects.

One project recently completed was the washing, ironing and mending of clothes collected for the PTA El Paradiso Council "Clothes Closet" for the needy.

MAINTAIN LIBRARY

In an effort to provide all the children at Bucknall with access to the school library another group of parents led by Mrs. Raymond Leeper, was formed to assist the district librarian assigned to Bucknall. These aides maintain the library four hours each day, four days a week, so that all classes may use the library once each week on a regular schedule. The aide is responsible for checking books out, carding returned books, keeping the shelves in order, etc.

Any time something new is tried there are bound to be set-backs, misunderstandings and discouragement. But with the careful guidance of Mrs. Nygren and the encouragement of Charles Reynolds, P.T.A. president, this group has shown what can be accomplished by people who are not willing to sit by and "let George do it".

There now exists a better understanding and a greater appreciation of some of the difficulties that teachers and administrators have in providing good learning experiences for the children in this rapidly expanding area.

The School Service Corps is an outstanding example of what parents through their PTA can do to really be of service to its school, its community, and most of all to its children.

Inquiries from many other schools and school districts have been made about the corps. To provide information to interested persons, a 14 page handbook has been published.

The parents who have helped in this program are: Mrs. Raymond Frame, Mrs. William Troup, Mrs. John Lowrimore, Mrs. Bob Underwood, Mrs. Frank Hamill, Mrs. Leo Dahill, Mrs. France Bolei, Mrs. John Lea, Mrs. Matthew Brazil;

Mrs. Albert Campa, Mrs. Carroll Dilly, Mrs. Dan Wortman, Mrs. Clayton Teare, Mrs. Duane McFarland, Mrs. Gilbert Horton, Mrs. Mike Celentano, Mrs. David LaGrone, Mrs. Kenneth Napier, Mrs. Robert Groten, Mrs. Keith Gray, Mrs. Harry Oravetz;

Also, Mrs. Paul Holshevnikoff, Mrs. Vincent Graziadei, Mrs. Raymond Webster, Mrs. Clarence Sewill, Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Mrs. David Wilbee, Mrs. Wayne Dinsmore, Mrs. William Adams, Mrs. Ernest MacKay, Mrs. Charles Bensinger;

Mrs. Herbert Levandowsky, Mrs. Harold Brewer, Mrs. Douglas Costanza, Mrs. Charles Henry, Mrs. Frank Militante, Mrs. Dewey Pressnell, Mrs. Lowrey Ruby, Mrs. Ellis Ruppert, Mrs. Robert Simon, Mrs. Ernest Martinez, Mrs. Stephen Paul, Mrs. Earl Clark, Mrs. Robert Turk, and Mrs. Orian Atkisson.

ASSISTS TEACHER - The art work of the first grade class at Bucknall School is displayed by their teacher, Mrs. Thomas, (right). Mrs. Dan Wortman, Classroom Aide, assists her with the exhibit.

LIBRARY AIDE - Mrs. Douglas Costanza, library aide for Bucknall School Service Corps, arranges books in the Bucknall Library.

Bulletin board art work was done by parent aide, Mrs. Kenneth Meinecke. Student Mildred Higginson browses through books.

VOLUNTEER WORKERS - Members of School Service Corps make themselves at home in their office provided by Douglas Reinecke, principal of Bucknall School. Volunteer workers are (seated) Mrs. Charles Reynolds, library aide, Mrs. Raymond Leeper, library services co-ordinator and Harry O'Neal, supplemental services.

Once a flickering flame

Gas utility service—as an American industry—is now 150 years old.

In its youth it was just a gas light. It has grown to serve vast fuel and energy needs of a robust, mushrooming nation.

And for you? Is the warmth your family enjoys gas heat? Is that breath of cool, fresh air on a scorching day from gas air conditioning?

Did you bake, boil or barbecue faster and easier today with natural gas?

Was the hot water for your dishes, baths and washing heated with gas?

Let's go to industry: Have you ever seen a massive steam boiler fired by gas? Or watched a natural gas torch slice through 16 inches of steel like so much suds in a sink?

Or, for that matter, did you realize that natural gas is one of the prime fuels for generating the electricity you use daily?

That's just part of what 150 years of growing young looks like; something very tangible, very vital.

You and millions of other Californians—at home and in industry—seem to agree, because for PG&E customer service today, that once flickering flame is...

Now, 3 billion cubic feet of natural gas a day

Sharon Ciraulo is lovely bride of Richard Cotter

MRS. RICHARD COTTER

Sharon Ciraulo, daughter of former Campbell residents, Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Ciraulo, bacame the bride of Richard Cotter recently at nuptials held at the Cambrian Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony was attended by a large gathering of friends and relatives.

Sharon chose a gown of Chantilly lace styled with ruffled skirt and fitted bodice for her wedding day. A pearl and sequin crown held her silk illusion veil and she carried an arrangement of carnations and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Six bridesmaids preceded the bride to the altar. They were Roxine Caggarino, maid of honor, and Nancy Grubb, Cathy McDowle, Sandy Ciraulo, Jean Rodrigues and Lonnie Robinson. They were dressed alike in gowns of red velvet and candlelight brocade and carried bouquets of red and white carnations. Little Cindy Halter and Patty Ciraulo were the flower girls. Mike Lopez served Richard as the best man.

A reception for 500 guests followed the wedding in the Fiesta Hall of the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds. A five-tiered wedding cake was served and the hall was beautifully decorated in red and white to carry out the bridal color scheme. Following a wedding trip to Southern California the newlyweds are making their home in Aptos.

Richard, who has been raised by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herling of Santa Cruz, is a graduate of Santa Cruz High School and attended Cabrillo College. He is now employed in Santa Cruz. The new Mrs. Cotter graduated from Camden High School and Willow Glen Beauty College. She was formerly employed at Jimmy's Beauty Salon in Willow Glen.

State provides funds to start future freeway route in Gilroy

Supervisor Sig Sanchez has announced that the state has allocated funds to commence property acquisition for the future South Valley Freeway.

Sanchez said he had been informed by officials of the State Division of Highways that some $250,000 will be made available July 1 to begin property acquisition for the Tenth Street Interchange for the freeway project in Gilroy.

Sanchez, Santa Clara County staff personnel and officials of Gilroy and Morgan Hill have repeatedly appeared before the California Highway Commission in recent years to argue for an accelerated construction schedule for the South Valley Freeway, which will bypass Gilroy, San Martin and Morgan Hill.

County Public Works Department officials believe that the present cost of $250,000 for interchange right-of-way acquisition would have soared to nearly one million dollars if the state had adhered to its previously announced timetable for acquisition, in the early 1970's.

Tenth Street will be extended to the east to connect with the Pacheco Pass Highway, a $400,000 project financed from county Expressway Bonds to improve traffic circulation patterns in Gilroy, and Sanchez and other county officials argued that the state should acquire property for the future freeway interchange at the same time the county acquires right-of-way for the extension of Tenth Street.

Construction of this three-quarter mile long project is to begin early next year.

Tenth Street is intended to be a major feeder arterial to the freeway and the interchange will be one of the major ones serving Gilroy.

State engineers already have established the route of the 12-mile long segment of the South Valley Freeway from a mile south of Thomas Road in the Gilroy area to Cochran Road in Morgan Hill, but until now there had been no money appropriation to acquire any right-of-way.

The freeway will bypass Gilroy, Morgan Hill and San Martin to the east, relieving an increasingly serious motoring hazard along Highway 101 and saving motorists time and driving expense.

Present average daily traffic volume of 32,000 vehicles is stifling growth of these communities, Sanchez said, and estimates are that the traffic volume will increase more than five times by 1985.

West Valley College faculty members get salary increase

West Valley College Board of Trustees last Thursday approved a 5.25 per cent pay increase for all its faculty members and administrative personnel, involving some 87 persons, raising the present certified salary schedule from $12,650 to $13,553 per year, for teachers with 12 years teaching experience and an earned doctorate.

The board also raised the salaries of assistant deans from $14,800 to $15,600, and four assistant superintendents from $17,500 to $18,450, and the salary of the superintendent from $23,500 to $24,700.

At the same time, the board raised the hourly rates for those teaching in extended day and summer session classes from a low of $6.50 up to $7.50 per hour at the bottom scale, to a top in the high scale to $9.50 an hour from $8.75 in six years.

In addition, the board added a seventh step at $9.75 per hour.

The board further instructed Dr. Wallace W. Hall, superintendent-president, to study any pertinent cost-of-living data in this area which could be used to determine whether or not, based upon this data, a cost-of-living adjustment in the salary schedule for classified employees should be made.

The board, acting upon a recent State Personnel Board survey, had previously granted most classified employees pay adjustments effective July 1.

In adopting the new pay proposal, offered by Trustee Ed Panelli, the board moved away, for the present, from the proposed 2-for-1 principle, asked for by the faculty.

This is the position that the top pay scale for an earned doctorate with 12 years experience should be exactly double that of the beginning salary scale.

The board indicated that while it regards the 2-for-1 principle as a "desirable goal" it did not wish to be bound to it in the immediate future, but pledged itself to "work assiduously toward the achievement of this goal within the limits of the district's finances."

Cash stolen

Approximately $280 was reported stolen from the residence of Roy Prestigiacomo at 49 W. Hamilton Ave., according to a report from the Campbell Police. The money, the victim stated, was kept in a dresser drawer in a bedroom of the house. Entry was apparently made by cutting the locked screen door of the patio. An investigation is underway.

FOREST FIRES

Bucknall parents ask for relocatable classrooms

A group of parents from the Bucknall Elementary School area attended the Moreland School District Board of Trustees meeting recently to present a proposal to the board in regard to a possible overload of students attending the school next term.

Clarence B. Sewill, spokesman for the group stated that the use of the recently constructed multi-purpose room for permanent classrooms, and the practice of bussing students to another school with available classrooms was unsatisfactory to most students, parents and teachers.

Sewill asked the board that they consider the possibility of renting or leasing relocatable classrooms to be used not only at Bucknall School, but at other schools within the district if the need arises.

Mrs. Doris von Hermann, trustee, requested further information from the administration as to the feasibility of the relocatable classrooms. Board President Gene Riordan thanked Sewill and the group for bringing the information before the board and advised them their proposal was welcomed.

He said the board will make a decision in the near future after reviewing the entire district's classroom availability and individual school's anticipated attendance.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

If you plan to be one of the 30,000 daily visitors to Washington this summer, you should be prepared in advance for a few disappointments.

The greatest letdown is the difficulty in seeing the most famous of all U.S. buildings, the White House. The public rooms of the official residence are open from 10 a.m. until noon every day except Sundays and Mondays.

Since it is not unusual for more than 20,000 people to go through the mansion in a single morning, this means standing in four-a-breast lines which are occasionally a half mile long.

Many people have learned of the so-called "special" early morning tour for which Congressmen can make advance reservations. They are "special" only in the sense that the groups are smaller and guides give an explanation. But, because there are 535 representatives and Senators, and dozens of high Executive officials, each Representative is necessarily restricted to one family group in any week.

Therefore, it has turned out that I must face the unhappy necessity of disappointing many more constituents than I can please. Written requests are processed on a first come, first served basis as received in my Washington office; so, if you are thinking about a White House tour next year, get your request in early.

If the special tour is not available try queing up for the public tour about 11 a.m. If there is not a State luncheon scheduled that day, chances are good (but not guaranteed) that the 12 o'clock cutoff will be extended to accommodate everyone in line.

Before you come to Washington in the summer, be certain you have prepaid room reservations. Your travel agent can help you.

Public tours available without cost: The FBI -- reservations not required, but some waiting may be involved; the Bureau of Engraving walk-through tour to watch the manufacture of our stamps and paper money; the Supreme Court building.

Other musts are: Mount Vernon, Tomb of the Unknown Soldiers, the Kennedy gravesite, Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument, the National Gallery of Art, the National Archives with the original copies of our Constitution and Declaration of Independence, the Smithsonian Institution and, of course, Capitol Hill and Congress.

Usually the House and Senate convene at noon while the legislative committees meet in the mornings. The daily Congressional Record and Washington papers always carry a preview of the day's Capitol Hill events. I will be happy to mail House Gallery passes to any persons requesting.

Camden looks good in Colt League play

Camden leads the West Valley Colt League as of June 3 and indications are they may continue their win streak. Rich Troedson pitched a 3 hitter, striking out 16 batters in a 3 to 2 win over Los Gatos in the opening game. Camden also won 4-3 over Campbell in their second game of the season.

Tomorrow, June 9, Blackford plays Saratoga at Saratoga field at 6 p.m. Other games are scheduled for Saturday, June 11, as follows: Campbell vs. Westmont at 2 p.m. at Campbell; Del Mar vs. Saratoga at Saratoga, at 2 p.m.; Leigh vs. Los Gatos at Leigh, 10 a.m. and Camden vs. Blackford at Camden at 10 a.m.

Come out and see your team play! The Colt League will hold a business meeting on Tuesday, June 14, in Room 2 of Camden High School.

The City Council of City of Campbell does ordain as follows:

SECTION ONE: That the following sections of Chapter 3, Article IX, of the Campbell Municipal Code entitled Planning and Zoning be and the same are hereby repealed: 9304, 9333, 9333.1, 9333.2, 9333.3, 9333.4, 9333.5, 9333.6, 9333.7, 9333.8, 9333.9, 9333.10.

SECTION TWO: That the following sections be and the same are hereby enacted as part of Chapter 3, Article IX of the Campbell Municipal Code entitled Planning and Zoning.

SECTION 9304 ADOPTION OF ZONES AS SHOWN ON MAP AND ZONING ANNEXED AREAS

The districts aforesaid and the boundaries of such districts are shown upon a map designated as the "Zoning Map of the City of Campbell" together with a "Neighborhood District Map of the City of Campbell". Said Zoning Map and Neighborhood District Map to be adopted by reference and three (3) copies of same to be on file in the Office of the City Clerk, 75 North Central Avenue, Campbell, California. Said maps and all notations, references and other information shown thereon shall be as much a part of this Chapter as if the matters and information set forth by these maps were fully described therein.

The City shall, after the effective date of this Section, prezone all unincorporated areas adjoining the City, either prior to or at the time such areas are annexed to the City. The method of such prezoning shall be as provided by Section 9333 through Section 9333.5. Such zoning shall become effective at the same time that the annexation becomes effective.

SECTION 9333 USE AND DISTRICT AMENDMENTS -- INITIATION

Whenever the public necessity, convenience, general welfare, or good zoning practice require it, the City Council may by ordinance, after report thereon by the Commission and subject to procedures provided in this section, amend, supplement or change the regulations, district boundaries, or classifications of property, now or hereafter established by this chapter. An amendment, supplement, reclassification or change may be initiated by Resolution of the Commission or the City Council, or by written application of a person having legal or equitable interest in the property as prescribed in Sec. 9333.1 below.

SECTION 9333.1 APPLICATION FORM AND CONTENTS

Requests for any change of district boundaries or reclassification of a district as shown on the zoning map shall be filed with the Planning Director and accompanied by such data and information as may be prescribed for that purpose by the Commission so as to assure the full spectacle presentation of facts for the permanent records. It shall also be accompanied by the amount of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) to defray the cost of publication of notices and administrative expenses.

Each request shall be signed by a person indicating that they have some legal or equitable interest in the property described; that the information contained within the request is true and correct to the best knowledge and belief of the person making the request.

SECTION 9333.2 ADDITIONAL ZONES AND REFUNDS

Any person authorized by the Planning Commission may add to the request for rezoning, additional zones to be considered by the Planning Commission and adjoining areas which should be considered for best planning. He may also request the person submitting the request for changes in zoning to withdraw his request where prior determination of policy has been made by the Planning Commission. If the person making the request consents to the withdrawal, the deposit to cover expenses shall be returned to him. If the Planning Commission rejects the request and the person making the request does not appeal to the City Council, the Planning Director shall request the Finance Director to refund Fifty ($50.00) Dollars of the One Hundred ($100.00) Dollar deposit to the person making the request and said Finance Director shall submit to the City Council a warrant for approval of the City Council.

SECTION 9333.3 PUBLIC HEARING

The Planning Director shall examine all applications for zone changes, and if they are found to be complete and sufficient, the Planning Director shall set the time and place for Public Hearing by the Planning Commission.

Notice of time and place of public hearings, including a general explanation of the matter to be considered and including a general description of the area affected, shall be given at least ten (10) calendar days before the hearing, in a newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in the City. A similar notice or notices shall also be conspicuously posted upon the property involved at least ten (10) days prior to the date of hearing. Such notice shall be printed with a heading reading "NOTICE OF HEARING" in letters not less than one inch (1") in height.

In connection with a hearing concerning only the amending, supplementing or changing of the text of this chapter, the published notice in a newspaper of general circulation, as provided for by this section, shall suffice.

SECTION 9333.4 FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS BY COMMISSION

After the public hearing, the Planning Commission shall render its decision to the Council in the form of a written recommendation. Such recommendation shall be made within ninety (90) days of filing of the application and shall include the reasons for the recommendation. A copy of the recommendation shall be transmitted to the applicant.

SECTION 9333.5 ACTION BY CITY COUNCIL

Upon receipt of the recommendation of the Planning Commission, the City Council shall hold a public hearing, provided, however, that if the matter under consideration is an amendment to the zoning ordinance to change property from one zone to another, and the Planning Commission has recommended against the adoption of such amendment, the legislative body shall not be required to take any further action thereon unless an interested party shall request such a hearing by filing a written request with the City Clerk within five (5) days after the Planning Commission files its recommendation with the City Council.

Notice of the time and place of said hearing shall be given in the manner specified by Section 9333.3 of this Code.

The City Council may approve, modify or disapprove the recommendation of the Planning Commission, provided that any modification of the proposed ordinance or amendment by the City Council shall first be referred to the Planning Commission for report and recommendation, but the Planning Commission shall not be required to hold public hearing thereon. Failure of the Planning Commission to report within forty (40) days after said reference, or such longer period as may be designated by City Council, shall be deemed to be approval of the proposed modification or change. If the Planning Commission has recommended against the adoption of a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance, the vote of four (4) members of the Council shall be required to overrule the recommendation and enact the amendment.

SECTION 9333.6 INTERIM ORDINANCE

Without following the procedures otherwise required preliminary to the adoption of a zoning ordinance, the City Council, to protect the public safety, health and welfare, may adopt as an urgency measure an Interim Ordinance prohibiting any uses which may be in conflict with a contemplated zoning proposal which the Council, Planning Commission, or the Planning Department is considering or studying or intends to study within a reasonable time. Such urgency measure shall require a four-fifths (4/5) vote of Council for adoption. Such Interim Ordinance shall be of no further force and effect ninety (90) days from the date of adoption thereof; provided, however, that after Public Hearing pursuant to Section 9333.3, the Council may by a four-fifths (4/5) vote extend such Interim Ordinance for one (1) year. Not more than two (2) such extensions may be adopted. When such Interim Ordinance has been adopted, every subsequent ordinance adopted pursuant to this section, covering the whole or part of the same property, shall automatically terminate and be of no further force or effect upon the termination of the first such ordinance or any extension thereof as herein provided.

PG&E dedicates $100 million Shasta County power project

Pacific Gas and Electric Company's $100 million McCloud-Pit project, its largest single hydroelectric development, was dedicated to public service last Friday in Shasta County ceremonies attended by more than 500 persons.

As the principal speaker, William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst Newspapers, touched on "the meaningful benefits that have accrued to mankind through the proper channeling of power."

He lauded PG&E's accomplishments in the production of electricity with the comment that "no other organization in all the world has harnessed more natural elements for the generation of electric power...its 83 plants are scattered strategically throughout the great area it serves."

State and Shasta County officials and civic leaders were among those who gathered for the dedication ceremonies near the largest of three new McCloud-Pit generating plants -- the 155,000-kilowatt James B. Black Powerhouse on the Pit River.

This plant makes first use of waters diverted from the McCloud River through 10 miles of tunnels and other facilities.

The powerhouse bears the name of the man who served as president of PG&E for 20 years and chairman of the board for nearly 10.

Robert H. Gerdes, present board chairman, paid tribute to Black's long service in his remarks. Gerdes noted that PG&E's 68 hydroelectric plants now include 14 in Shasta County. Total investment in the Shasta plants is more than $183 million.

State representatives attending the dedication ceremonies were headed by George G. Grover, member of the California Public Utilities Commission, who spoke briefly.

Shasta County Supervisor Norman A. Wagoner stressed the importance of tax revenues from PG&E.

This fiscal year, the company's tax bill in Shasta County totaled $4,800,000, with 59 per cent, or $2,800,000, going to schools and school districts.

The supervisor pointed out the company's payments go to more than 100 separate taxing bodies in Shasta County.

With the completion of McCloud-Pit, PG&E's system generating capacity stands above eight million kilowatts, President Shermer L. Sibley told the dedication throng. This compares with a total of 1,658,000 kilowatts at the end of World War II. Capacity of the project plants is 330,000 kw.

"Ours is a business of planning," said Sibley, "planning from day-to-day and for months and years ahead. The growth of California is an exciting challenge for everybody."

PG&E Shasta Division Manager Lee W. Brillhart, like Gerdes, spoke of the contributions of the craftsmen who took part in the construction effort of more than three years. Manpower on the project ranged above the 1,200-mark and payrolls topped $1 million a month at the peak of construction.
